ALL HOPE NOW ABANDONED

The Sea Believed to Contain 314 of Elbe's Passengers.

ANTON FISCHER NOT ABOARD

Watchful Eyes on the Wintry Coasts Have Not Observed Any of the Ill-starred Stenmer's Lifebouts, and Therefore the Most Sanguine Fear All the Rest Per ished-Washingtonians Who Were Lost.

LOWESTOFF, England, Jun. 31 .- No other boxts carrying survivors of the Ethe disaster have been sighted along the coast, and disputches from points on the coast for many miles give no hope. It is believed that all others have certainly perished. A bilizard is blowing and bitter cold weather prevails.

It is not believed now that any of the passeagers are living, and hope has been given up. A lifeboat, supposed to have belonged to the Elbe, has been washed ashere near Yarmouth. In the boat were a number of life-belts and ones, and it is believed to be the best from which the fishing smack Wild Flower rescued the few persons who escaped from the steamship after the collision of yesterday morning.

Everybody here is asking his neighbor the same question: "How did it occur?" And nobody seems able to give a satisfactory an-

A lunging of survivors, who were cluster ing around a hotel fire this morning, indulged in the most bitter criticisms of the still unanown ship which rammed and sunk the Eibe. They all claim that she should have stood by the Eibe, and that if she had done so a great many lives would have been saved. This, of course, is a matter which cannot be decided until all the facts in the quiry which will inquire into the matter. DOTAL NUMBER OF THE LOST.

The officers of the North German-Lloyd have given for publication the following figures as the total number of persons on Fifteen first cabin, 31 second cabin, 2 going from Bramen to Southampton, 137 steerage, and 145 eres, of which twenty are known to be saved, making a total of 314 lost. NOT STILL ABOUT THE OBSTRIK.

The agents of the North German-Lloyd Company at Southampton have been in constant communication with the German vice consul, who has been upon the spot ever since a short time after the disaster became known. It is not definitely established that the Crathic was the offending steamer, SEIES OF A SUSBAND.

WEISTER, Mass., Jan. 31.-William Warneke, of this town, was among the passengers lost by the sinking of the stenmer Elbe. Mr. Warnoke left here four months ago for Hanover, Germany, to visit his parents. Five weeks ago his family received word that he was coming home, and a dispatch received from the North German-Lloyd agents to-day from the North German-Lloyd agents to-lay discloses the fact that his name was on the list of passengers of the Ethe. He leaves a wife and a four-year-old son here. Newstraca, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Solin S. Her-man, the twenty-one-year-old son of Alms-house Commissioner Frederick Herman, and Henry M. Nitschky, both of this city, are probably among the lost by the Eibe disas-ter. The names Colin L. Herman and Henry A. Mitschky are on the Eibe's list of steerage pessengers cabled from Bremen, and are be-lieved to be incorrectly given for those of the two young men. Nitschity and Herman went to Germany on a visit early in December.

PATE OF THE WASHINGTONIANS.

Anton Pischer Is Believed to Be Safe-The Other Victims

The family of Auton Fischer, who is reported not to have been on the Elbe when she sank, had not up to a late hour last night heard from him. It is stated that, intending to stop at Southampton, and preferring the train, he had not, after his name went on the list, taken the Elbe, but proceeded by train to his destination.

Mr. E. F. Droop, the Washington agent of the steamship line to which the Eibe belonged, said, when seen, that it was rather singular that nothing from Mr. Fischer had been sent here from Frankfort. He was unable to give any information in addition to what has already been published.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3L-The special con tee of councils appointed to investigate the charges of bribory in connection with the passage of the mutual automatic telephone ordinance last July, met this afternoon and examined a number of witnesses, chief among whom was James J. Breen, who made the charges.

He testified that Secretary Stackhouse, of the telephone company, had told him that Senator Charles A. Forter and David Martin had received stock valued at $75,000 each for the passage of the ordinance, and that the aggregate value of the stock giv in out to get the bill through was $302,000.

This was the most starting bit of testimony adduced at the hearing, and it created a profound sensation. It was also shown that while other telephone companies were obliged

ESTIMATED AT $100,000,000

It Is Declared by Reliable Persons That As-Place $75,000,000, with in Syndicate of their contract. Foreign Houses and the Balance with Domestic Bankers-Terms of the Deal.

New York, Jan. 31.-Assistant Secretary of the Treasury William E. Curtis, who arrived from Washington last night, reached the sub-treasury this moraing shortly after II o'clock and held a conference with representatives of the leading foreign banking houses in this city, including August Belmont, who represents the Rothschilds; George F. Seligman, of Seligman & Co.; Maurice Wormser, of Wormser & Co., and Mr. Meyer, of Lazard Preres.

Mr. Beimont was among the earliest callers on Mr. Curtis, and in leaving the sub-treasury he went directly to the office of J. Pierpont, Morgan & Co., and had a private talk with the head of the firm, returning with him and gold into conference with the assistant secretary. The three had an extended discus-sion of course, behind closed doors.

CONTREBED ABOUT A LOAN. Sub-treasurer Jordan accorded the representatives of the Associated Press an interview. He said: "Mr. Curtis came on from Washington as representative of the Secretary of the Treasury to obtain information needed by the department and he has left for the Capital with his mission accomplished, but nothing has been sold and nothing has been bought. It is a fant that he came to discuss the question of placing a govern-ment loan. As to the story of a stering loan, there is nothing in it." The Assistant Secre-lary has started for Washington.

It is confidently expected in financial cir-cles here that a new bond issue will be an-nonneed within a few days and the amount of the loan is generally estimated at $100,-000,000. It is known that the foreign backing one, one. It is known that the foreign banking interests have expressed themselves in favor of a 4 per cent bond, hence it is believed that the long term is will be issued at a price which will yield the purchaser 3½ per cent.

There is excellent authority for saying that Mr. Curtis was vested with authority to do more than assertain the views of the New York lankers. All those with whom he conshe bought her tieket for this country and emberged with her little nest-egg and her ehild on the III-lated Elbe.

The gold to pay for the bonds will come, it is said, in great part if not as a whole, from home sources, but without recourse to the United States treasury.

It is known that Mr. Curtis communicated by telegraph in cipher with Secretary Carliste during the-day and received a reply, but the nature of the message is not known. A member of a foreign house, which was represented at to-day's conference, stated to a representative of the Associated Press this evening that the acquisitions for a government loan had been practically compared to-day on the terms given above, and that unless the nux-pected happened the official notice would be given out to-morrow or the day after.

Attorney Sands and Representative Livingston Stated that the Company Would Give a Million Dollar Bond for the Performance of Its Promises, and Also Security for Replacing the Streets in Proper Condition.

The gas investigation, conducted privately by Senator Harris on Monday, was partly made public yesterday.

Representative Livingston stated to the House District Committee that the cloud which had for some days hung over the company to make gas by the Cowlam process had been dissipated by that investigation. The writer of the letters, which a certain Senator had actively handed about in the Senate, stated that he had no connection with the proposed gas company.

The District Commissioners, he said, had hung up his bill for seven weeks considering what reasons there might be against its passage. They had returned it with the single objection that it would be necessary to tear up the streets. The company was ready to give a bond for the return of the streets to their proper condition, and he had done everything he could to guard the rights of the people.

Representative Aldrich asked him to give its general outlines the nature of the Cowian process, but he answered that the caveat for a patent had not yet been filed and no explanation at all of the process could be given.

Miss Corbley Has Been Practically Dead for Four Years.

SHE IS AN HYPNOTIC SUBJECT

Her Father Believed Her Dead and Himself Died in the Belief That He Would Meet Her-She Remained in the House of the Good Shepherd Like One in a Dream-Was Her Mind Controlled by Another 1

Miss Kate Corbley, of this city, has been dead for years.

Three days ago she returned to life and is ow living with friends in Washington, At least, to all intents and purposes, she has been dead. Her father believed it and died of a broken heart. Her brother believed it and even new does not know she is alive. The facts are these:

In 1885, during the summer months, Katie Corbiey met a handsome young man with a dark mustache, who is now practicing hypnotism in New York, and whose name is known to the police authorities.

The young girl proved a perfect hypnotic subject. In this state she was placed by her father in the House of the Good Shepherd, a Catholic institution which shelters the suffer-ing and unfortunate of the earth.

MOURNED HER AS DEAD, Her father continued to visit her for about six years, until one day he was informed that she had died and had been buried with religious rites.

Mr. Corbley was old and infirm at the time and made no further inquiry. He mourned his daughter as one departed. A few years nis daughter as one departed. A lew years later ne, as he believed, went to join her in another world.

But Katie was not dead. She was allve and, it is believed, was continually under the influence of the man with the black mus-

Whether or not it was his purpose to will that she should remain in her safe retreat and make no sign to her relatives, will not be known until the case is investigated.

But for all this time Katie has had no desire to return to her family, nor in fact scarcely a remembrance of the personalities and the location of her relatives.

A PERFECT HYPNOTIC SUBJECT. Christopher Corbley, her father, was for twenty years an employe of the restaurant on the corner of Seventh and D streets northwest. He is now dead and can throw no light on the mysterious and occult influence which kept his daughter from him.

which kept his daugater from him.

Charles Corbiey, her brother, is a sturdy blacksmith in Washington and will not know that his sister is alive unless he reads this morning's Times.

Katie Corbiey is pronounced by those who know her a perfect hypnotic subject. Her strange story may prove that it is possible for some personalities to control others at a distance and will then to do whatever its wished. The story of her reagonerance is as follows:

oad Company.

The story of her reappearance is as follows:
The other morning Mr. Henry Reb, a friend of the family, was standing in his store, No.

She assured him that she was; and well, too; and in a few moments the young woman was surrounded by the family, who con-gratulated her upon being in the land of the living. AS PROM THE GRAVE.

To a Trues reporter who called to see her,

Miss Corbley said she entered the House of the Good Shepherd September 8, 1885. At that time she was twenty-one years of age, Now she is thirty-one, although she looks She has not found her brother yet, although she is anxious to locate him. Mrs. Reh said that Katio's father frequently came to her with tears in his eyes and told about his daughter's death at the House of the Good Shepherd. The man who caused all the trouble is figuring prominently as a hypnotist in New York and has a family of children who grew up while Katie Corbiey was sewing away in the confines of the home away out beyond
